Q1. Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow.

Rainbows are multi - coloured arcs of light in the sky. It is believed that the 'rainbow' got its name from its shape. A rainbow's arc looks similar to a bow for shooting arrows. People also noticed that this colourful arc would only form when it was raining, so they called it a rainbow.

Rainbows are often seen when the sun comes out after or during a rainstorm. Rainbows are caused when sunlight shines through drops of water in the sky at a particular angle. When white sunlight enters a raindrop, it leaves the raindrop in a different colour. When light passes through lots of different raindrops at different angles, it produces the red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet colours that you see in a rainbow. Together, these colours are known as the spectrum. These colours can sometimes be seen in waterfalls and fountains as well.

Did you know that there are double rainbows? In a double rainbow, light reflects twice inside water droplets and forms two arcs. In most double rainbows, the colours of the top arc are opposites from those in the bottom arc. In other words, the order of colours starts with purple or violet on top and ends with red at the bottom.
